

7324 Braeside Drive, Burnaby

Dear Friends: over the past months it became clear that we had many domestic reasons for leaving SFU for Dalhousie, while with my colleague Adrian Lewis moving to Cornell, the intellectual reasons for staying in Vancouver became less clear.

So on January 1, 2004, I take up a Research Chair in the Computer Science Faculty at Dalhousie University, in Halifax Nova Scotia, along with a cross-appointment in Mathematics.

My moving to Dalhousie---and the Distributed Research Institute I shall set up---allow for close collaboration with SFU. The opportunities for significant interaction between Dalhousie and the Atlantic Computing Consortium with IRMACS and WestGrid are formidable; and I look forward to the new challenges.

Point Pleasant Park, the Chase Building and the harbour front

We shall be living at 857 Bridges St. (B3H 2Z6) shown at the right. It is on the South Peninsula near St Mary's University---within walking distance of Dalhousie, the harbour, Point Pleasant Park, and MathResources (the company I helped found about a decade ago). Our present email addresses will continue to work along with jon@mathresources.com and jborwein@cs.dal.ca

Best wishes, Jonathan and Judith Borwein
